The girl’s article was only 235 words long, and it was handed in as a school assignment. Nevertheless, Jiajia’s words “deeply impressed” her elementary school teacher, who then posted the article online, where it struck a chord with many people. Up till now, a fund started by teachers at Jiajia’s school has reached more than 30,000 RMB, which will be put toward Jiajia’s future blood transfusions.
