Chinese ambassador to France criticizes Abe's shrine visit

Chinese ambassador to France Zhai Jun has made a comment in the French Newspaper 'Le Figario', criticizing Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe's visit to the controversial Yasukuni Shrine.

Zhai pointed out that Abe's behavior was unacceptable to the Asian countries, who became victims to Japan's military aggression during World War Two. He blamed selected right wing Japanese politicians as well as Abe for failing to reverse the reputation of the war criminals.

The controversial shrine honors 14 Class-A war criminals of the World War Two.
