“Cheater” was just one of the very angry messages an English girl sprayed on each side of her boyfriend's car when she found out that he was two-timing her. The white Range Rover Revere-starting price 95000 euro-was parked close to Harrods in West London. Several angry messages were sprayed on the car, probably the work of the owner's angry girlfriend.

The words It's over were also sprayed on the Range Rover, //confirm//iing-if there was any lingering doubt-that the relationship between the two was over.

Meanwhile, according to the BBC, it is thought that the whole thing could have been just a publicity stunt.
