

《重新构建理论体系，加强中国国际话语权》

During a meeting on philosophy and social science on May 17, Chinese President Xi Jinping said the country needs its own theoretical structure to analyze and guide development, adding that Marxism will remain the guiding theory in the study of philosophy and social sciences in China, distinguishing them from such disciplines in other parts of the world, the Xinhua News Agency reported.

[illegible]

Su Wei, a professor at the Party School of the Chongqing Committee, told the Global Times that despite the unprecedented speed and scale of China's economic development, China's economic advantage has not translated into a strong voice on international affairs.

[illegible]

"The key to this issue is to rebuild discourse about the country. Theoretical innovation in philosophy and social sciences is the pillar of this cause," Zhang Weiwei, dean of the China Institute at Fudan University, was quoted as saying by Xinhua.

????????????????????“????????????????????”

[illegible][illegible]

????????????????????????????????????????????

?????“????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????”

[illegible]

????????????????????????????????????????????????????