

《狠心妈妈将两岁孩子从七楼扔下》

导读:一名女子因和丈夫发生争吵,愤怒中将其两岁大儿子从七楼扔下。所幸运的是,虽然这名儿童受伤严重,但是没有生命危险。

A two-year-old boy from China has survived after being thrown out of the seventh-storey window of his home by his mother.

????????????????????????????????????

The boy's parents had been arguing when the mother decided to take drastic action on June 14 in the county of Hong'an, central China's Hubei Province, reports the People's Daily Online.

????????????6?14????????????????????????????????????

The child was taken to hospital where he was found to have several fractures along with damage to his internal organs.

????????????????????????????????

The mother and her husband had been quarreling when she took drastic action.

????????????????????????????????

An ambulance was called to the scene and the crew were shocked to see that the child was just two years old and had been thrown from the seventh floor by his own mother.

????????????????????????2????????????????????????????????

He was rushed to Tongji hospital.

????????????????????

According to the boy's uncle, the child has fractured his right arm and also his skull. He also has damage to his internal organs.

????????????????????????????

Chinese media are reporting that the boy's father is 53 and works in a factory in Guangdong Province, southern China.

????????????????53????????????

He and the boy's mother apparently keep themselves to themselves.

????????????????

They married three years ago and bought an apartment in an affordable housing block. However due to financial reasons, the father had to go to Guangdong to find work.

????????????????????????????????

According to reports, the mother of the child is on her second marriage.

????????????

Before the incident took place, the couple reportedly fought over the phone and her husband said he wanted a divorce.

????????????????????

According to him, at around 7pm last night, he and his wife were talking on the phone however they didn't quarrel. His wife wanted him to come home early.

????????????????????

He received a call from neighbours telling him that his son was injured. He then rushed back to see his son.

????????????????????

He told reporters that he did not blame his wife, he was just concerned over his son's safety.

????????????????????

Hong'an Police say they are investigating the incident.

????????????????????

The child is still in intensive care receiving treatment.

????????????????????