

《Guangdong initiates emergency measures to cope with Nida》

Authorities in Guangdong province have activated emergency measures on Monday to cope with potential damages from Typhoon Nida.

Fishing boats take refuge at a harbor in Yangjiang, Guangdong province, on Aug 1. (Photo/Nanfang Daily)

The provincial capital, Guangzhou, ordered the suspension of work, production, and school classes and ordered emergency and rescue personnel to be on alert.

It also advised people to stay indoors and marine vessels and fishermen to harbor. Sea travels and hundreds of local flights to and from Shenzhen, Guangzhou, Hong Kong and Zhuhai have been canceled.

A fisherman reinforces his boat at a harbor in Yangjiang, Guangdong province, on Aug 1. (Photo/Nanfang Daily)