The 58-year-old woman, who is not named in the complaint, arrived in the U.S. on a visa in late March. According to the complaint, the nanny was forced to work up to 18 hours a day doing child care, cooking and cleaning. Police calculate her pay at about $1.80 an hour, but she apparently did not receive any of it.

The woman was never allowed to leave the house, the complaint said. The nanny told a police investigator she eventually fled the house when Huang threatened to kill her with a knife. She told police she was looking for the airport so she could go home to China, the complaint said.

A bag hidden under the nanny's mattress contained a large amount of her hair, which Huang allegedly ripped from the woman's head. The nanny had been hiding it so Huang wouldn't find it "and force her to eat it," the complaint said.
