

《又帅又萌！动物学家发与动物合影成网络红人》

导读:与各种可爱的动物拥抱确实是一件难得的事儿，但是蒙大拿本地人韦斯·拉尔森做到了。他把与动物拥抱的照片传到社交网站上，吸引了大批粉丝关注。

It's a hard life hugging cute animals, but somebodies got to do it.

????????????????????????????

Officially Wes Larson is a bear scientist, unofficially he is an Instagram star with 81,000 followers who can't get enough of his uploads.

?? ?????????????????????????????81000????Instagram????????????????????????

The Montana native quit optometry school seven years ago to study biology so that he could work towards protecting endangered species.

??

When he's not cosying up to bears, whales, chickens, parrots, lizards and giraffes he's hanging out with Pants, an orphaned racoon he's found himself raising.

????????????????????????????????????“?”——????????????????????

In a recent interview with IG World Club he said: 'My whole life, I've been interest in wildlife'.

?????IG????????????????????“????????????????????”

He continued: 'When I graduated college, I got sucked into the idea that I needed to make a lot of money. But I eventually decided to do what I was passionate about.'

?????“??”

Since following his passions he has worked with the Southern Beaufort Sea population of polar bears in Alaska for three years.

??

His work hasn't always been easy, he revealed that while working in the Arctic studying polar bears the weather became almost unbearable, dropping to -57degrees Celsius. It was so cold his eyeball actually froze.

??57????????????????????????

While this sort of hardship would put most people off he's determined to do as much as he can to help endangered animals.

??

He said his goal is: 'to get as much information as possible' so that no human activity — from oil drilling to park picnicking — harms animals.

????????“????????”????????——????????——??????

Though he has a worthy goal, he's also managed to travel to some amazing destinations and get up close with some incredible creatures.

??

His adventures as a real life Dr Doolittle have garnered a legion of Instagram followers keen to be updated on his regular animal interactions.

????????“????”????????Instagram????????????????????????????

And his pet raccoon is fast becoming more popular than him.

????????????????????

