The Thor actor, 35, dropped his trousers for a steamy romp with costar Elizabeth Debicki. The scene was so sexy that his derrière got censored in the U.S. version of the show. Between his butt-baring scene and his revealing underwear photo shoot for W magazine, his booty even garnered its own hashtag: #Hiddlesbum.

“I was surprised to hear they cut my butt out,” he told W last month. “I’m here to tell you that my butt is not dangerous. And there are many, many more things that people are happy to broadcast. I don’t know what that says about the world we live in, but it probably says something.”

The Rear of the Year title is presented annually to both a male and female Brit with “prize-winning rear assets,” according to the site. The winners even get crystal trophies engraved with their title. British actress Jennifer Metcalfe joined Hiddleston as this year’s female winner.

Hiddleston attended San Diego Comic-Con last weekend to promote his film Kong: Skull Island after spending time with the “Wildest Dreams” singer in Australia. The actor has been filming the latest installment of the Thor series Down Under, and the couple enjoyed several date nights during his free time.
