

《3D murals helping village eliminate poverty》

A village at Shanghe county of Jinan, capital city of East China's Shandong province is getting more visitors thanks to lifelike 3D paintings on almost every household's wall.

A person poses next to an aquatic mural in Diansizhang village, in Shanghe county of Jinan, capital city of East China's Shandong province. [Photo by Zhang Ming/chinadaily.com.cn]

The 3D murals in Diansizhang village feature animals, fairies and historical-themed paintings. They have been welcomed greatly by local residents, especially children.

With a total population of 355, Diansizhang village has 32 people who are now living in poverty.

Since 2016, the local tourism authority has been putting efforts into developing the village into a rural tourism destination in a bid to lift the villagers out of poverty.

Children pose in front of a mural. [Photo by Zhang Ming/chinadaily.com.cn]