

《中国南海事件：中国网友怒黑越南机场》

导读:越南最大两座机场的航班信息大屏幕被黑客攻击，刊登讯息批评越南在南海的领土声明。

China's territorial claims, which overlap with Vietnam's, were recently rejected by an international tribunal.

??

Screens and sound systems at Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City airports broadcast anti-Vietnamese and Philippines slogans on Friday.

??

Vietnam's transport ministry said a Chinese hacker was responsible.

????????????????????????????????

Vietnam Airlines' website was also briefly hacked.

????????????????

Media in Vietnam reported that staff at the airports had to resort to checking in passengers manually, avoiding computers for several hours.

??

The hack comes days after a row involving a Chinese tourist at one of the hacked airports - Tan Son Nhat, in Ho Chi Minh City.

??--????????????????

China asked Vietnam to investigate reports that a Chinese visitor's passport was handed back with obscenities written on two pages.

??

Pictures show a four-letter word written on the pages that contain a map including China's "nine-dash line", that marks China's claim to territories in the South China Sea.

????????????"???"?????????"F*CK"????"???"????????????????????

The tourist, surnamed Zhong and from China's Guangdong province, was entering Vietnam through Tan Son Nhat airport.

????????????????????????????????????

She told local media that she was "very disappointed at the personal qualities of Vietnamese officials".

?????????????"????????????????"?

The Chinese consulate in Ho Chi Minh City said in a statement the act was "shameless and cowardly", adding that it had "stained the dignity of both China and its nationals".

?????????????????????????"?????"?????????"????????????????"?

New passports were issued by Beijing in 2012 with revised maps to include the "nine-dash line".

7???????20????????????????????????????????