

Seventeen years ago, he embarked on the crazy adventure as an Olympics chaser: He toured around China before attending the Beijing Olympics in 2008, then made it to London in 2012, and now he's in Rio. He plans to finish his global journey in Tokyo for the 2020 Olympics.

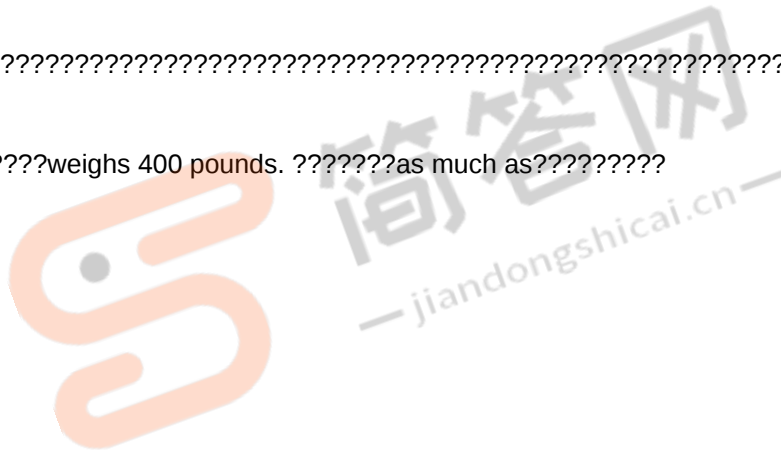

17????????????????????2008????????????????????2012????????????????????2020????????????????
????

???as much as?????????weighs 400 pounds. ?????as much as?????????

Zsafia Korodi, a Hungarian living in London, set up a Facebook fan page for Chen after being “inspired by his actions,” so that supporters can keep track of him.

Zsafia Korodi????????????????????????????????????facebook????????????????????????????

Keep track of sth./sb. ????"????/?????"?"?????????????"?

That way his journeys are pieced together, and people alert the next town to look out for Chen and take care of him.

??

That way?????????????"?????"?

When there's water to cross, people he's met fly him over, and he waits patiently for the rickshaw to arrive by ship.

??

Chen said he does it all to promote the Olympic spirit. "My biggest hope is to encourage the vulnerable, the weak, and those who are afraid of challenges.

????????????????????"????????????????????"