

《中国留学生藏刀闯白金汉宫 " 欲刺女王 " 被捕》

导读:一名企图刺杀女王的留英中国学生暗藏刀具试图闯入白金汉宫时被警方逮捕。

A Chinese student allegedly tried to smuggle a knife into Buckingham Palace in his shoe and said he wanted to kill the Queen, a court has heard.

??

Hang Zhang, 25, who is a University of Sheffield student, was arrested at Her Majesty's London home on Friday - the fourth security alert there in three months.

???25????????????????????????——????????????????????????

Zhang, who told police he he feared Chinese government agents were following him, had a charge of threatening to kill the Queen dropped because of his mental health.

??

But he still appeared at Westminster Magistrates' Court yesterday accused of possessing an offensive weapon.

????????????????????15????????????

His attempt to sneak into the Palace is the fourth security alert there since May. The Queen is not believed to have been at home.

????????????????5????????4????????????????

Last week a drunk man scaled a fence and spent 14 minutes prowling the grounds.

????????????????????14????

A Royal fanatic caught outside Buckingham Palace armed with three knives days before the Queen's birthday will be sentenced later this month.

????????????????????????3????????????

John Bolton, 47, pleaded guilty to possession of the three lock knives while parked in his car, 100 metres away from the palace on June 9, this year.

???????·???47????????????69????????100????

In May an intruder who sparked a police lock-down at Buckingham Palace when he scaled a 10ft wall was revealed as a convicted murderer.

????????10????????????

Denis Hennessy, 41, wandered through the royal gardens for up to ten minutes, before asking armed officers, 'Is Ma'am in?'

????????·???41????????“?????”????????10??

After breaking into the Palace he was jailed for four months.

????????4????