

《Flower of youth blooms in police station》

Born in 1989, Qin Jie seems surprisingly mature for his age. Maybe this is because he has an ordinary yet special job – as a community police officer from Gaoxin police station of the Public Security Bureau (PSB) of Zouping County, Shandong province. Community police officers need to stay close to the grassroots to directly make contact with the masses. As for Qin Jie, he is always patient in explaining to citizens coming to him for consultation. He says that once in police office, he will represent the image of policemen and the police station, and that sometimes, one more word with the citizens may save them a lot of trouble.

Born in 1989, Qin Jie seems surprisingly mature for his age. Maybe this is because he has an ordinary yet special job – as a community police officer from Gaoxin police station of the Public Security Bureau (PSB) of Zouping County, Shandong province. Community police officers need to stay close to the grassroots to directly make contact with the masses. As for Qin Jie, he is always patient in explaining to citizens coming to him for consultation. He says that once in police office, he will represent the image of policemen and the police station, and that sometimes, one more word with the citizens may save them a lot of trouble.