

《Florida girl dresses up as cancer-survivor grandma》

Three-year-old Scout of Niceville, Florida was recently photographed alongside her grandmother, Diane 'Nonnie' Willoughby, 57, in celebration of the grandmother's cancer-free diagnosis. In the photos, Willoughby's t-shirt reads, 'I am cancer free. Let's party!' while Scout's matching top says, 'Nonnie is cancer free. Let's party!' The pair also sport sparkly party hats and bright pink bubble gum. Ashley Larson, Scout's mother, acts as photographer for Scout's shoots, and hopes to teach her daughter about female strength.

Tough as nails: After six rounds of chemotherapy and a double mastectomy, Willoughby is officially cancer-free.
