

《The Shanghai Maths Project appears in UK bookstore》

Photo shows a lady reading The Shanghai Maths Project at The Waterstone's in Piccadilly, London June 8. (Photo: CFP) based on maths teaching in Shanghai, this series of practice books for years 1–11 will provide complete coverage of the maths curriculum for England. The UK government has launched a $50 million investment in Chinese maths across Britain. That has been followed now by International publishers Harper Collins producing a number of textbooks using the Shanghai Maths System to sell into UK schools.

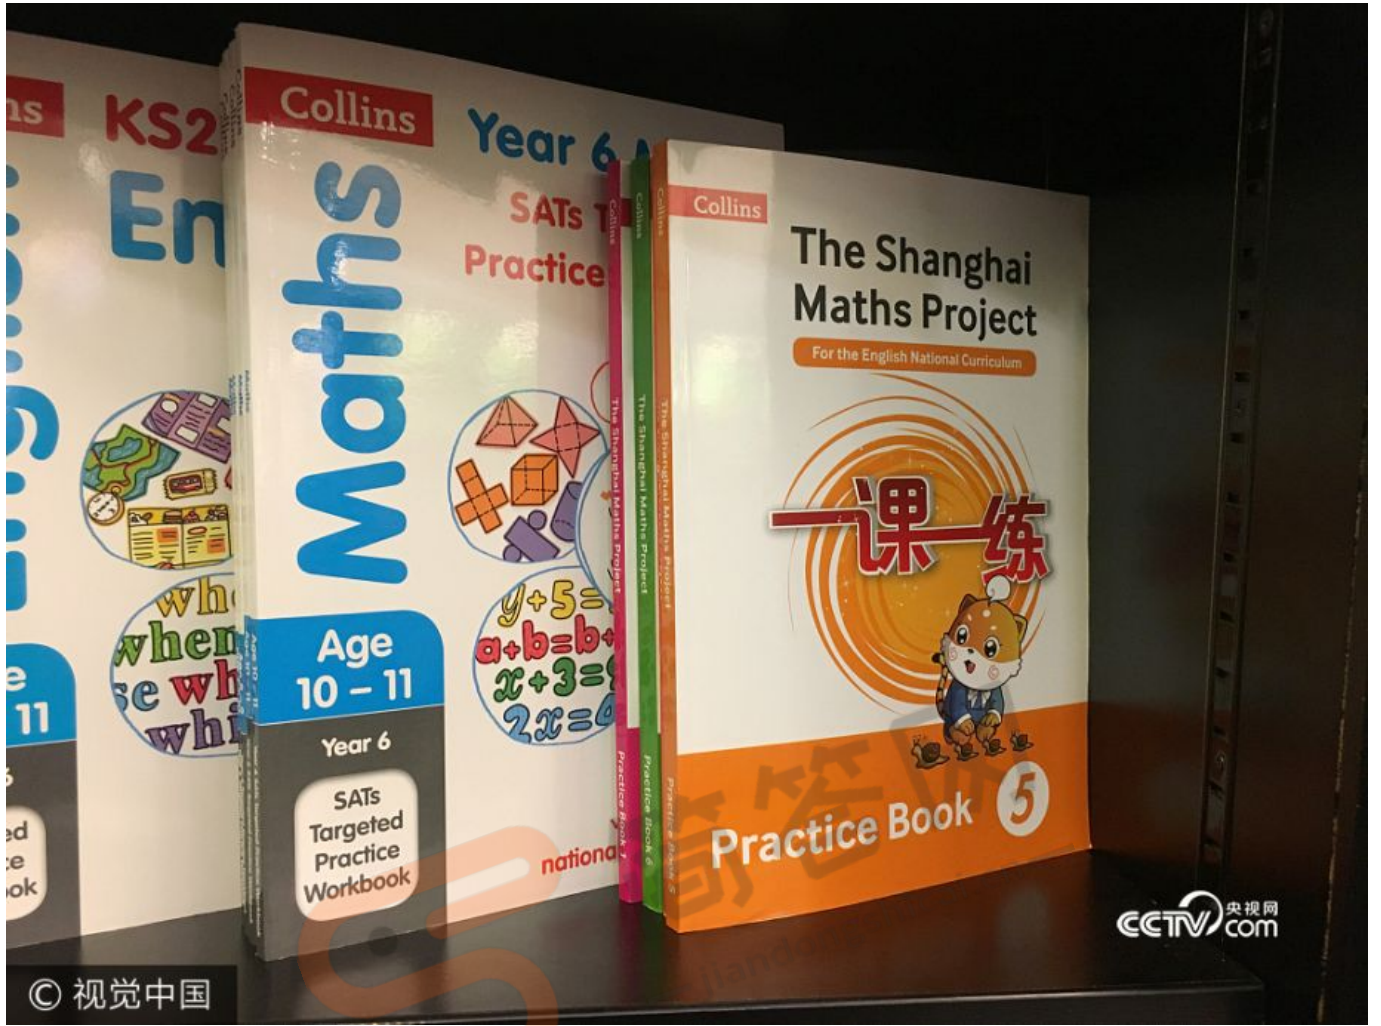

Photo shows The Shanghai Maths Project series of practice books being put on the bookshelf at Waterstone's in Piccadilly, London, June 8. (Photo: CFP)