

《Belgian restaurant takes dinner to new heights》

Photo shows guests enjoying a "Dinner in the Sky" meal on a platform suspended from a crane at a height of 40 metres (131 ft.) in front of the Arcades du Cinquantenaire in Brussels, Belgium June 8, 2017.(Photo: Chinanews.com) A sky-high restaurant in Europe is taking adventurous foodies to dizzying heights! Diners are seated around a small "kitchen" area and hoisted 130 feet into the air by crane at the fine dining restaurant that boasts stunning views of the Brussels skyline. The guests, who each paid 285 euros ($320) for a seat on the dinner table, were enthusiastic about the meal and the unique view over the Belgian capital. The restaurant operates seasonally. Diners can take to the skies until June 18.

Photo shows guests enjoying a "Dinner in the Sky" meal on platforms suspended from cranes at a height of 40 metres (131 ft.) in front of the Arcades du Cinquantenaire in Brussels, Belgium June 8, 2017.(Photo: Chinanews.com)