

《励志！90后“无手”女青年竟开100多家快餐店》

导读:近日，成都一名“无手”女青年走红。年仅26的她，在四岁时遭遇火灾，失去了双手，几乎殒命。然而在父母爱的呵护下，她不仅奇迹般回复，并且培养了坚强的意志。现在，她和丈夫已成功经营100多家快餐店。

Xie Qiujuan, a 26-year-old woman in Chengdu, Sichuan province, lost both her hands in a fire when she was just 4 years old. After about 40 surgeries, 10 new "fingers" were eventually sculpted from her wrist. Despite subsequent challenges, Xie has successfully opened more than 100 fast food restaurants.

"I am able to do things just like other people," Xie insisted, explaining that she never considered herself special. However, from all appearances, Xie is quite special. She attended school and distinguished herself as a top student; she studied 3-D animation and earned several prizes; she worked in sales and became a champion seller among her 6,000 co-workers. Finally, she chose to start her own business.

Xie was born in 1990. Her happy childhood came to a screeching halt after her accident, which cost 10,000 yuan in medical expenses every three days. She almost died several times. Doctors told her parents to give up, and Xie maintains that it was only her parents' love and persistence that made her miraculous recovery possible.

One day, Xie heard a speech about entrepreneurship, which ignited her own dreams. She found a job with a sales company to gain experience. Later, in 2014, Xie met her husband. They got to know each other through WeChat, and the young fast food restaurant owner was touched by Xie's passion and spirit. They shared the same entrepreneurship dream. Together, they opened a new fast food restaurant three month later. Now they own more than 100 restaurants.
