

《Minority Yi celebrate Torch Festival in southwest China》

Thousands of locals and tourists gather in the Liangshan Yi Autonomous Prefecture of Sichuan Province in southwest China to celebrate the grand Torch Festival, on July 17. The most eye-catching activity this year is the bonfire party, which attracted more than 210,000 people to watch the mysterious Bimo performance and experience the singing and dancing that takes place with fire torches. (CNS/Song Ming)

Thousands of locals and tourists gather in the Liangshan Yi Autonomous Prefecture of Sichuan Province in southwest China to celebrate the grand Torch Festival, on July 17. The most eye-catching activity this year is the bonfire party, which attracted more than 210,000 people to watch the mysterious Bimo performance and experience the singing and dancing that takes place with fire torches. (CNS/Song Ming)