Most of the abuse was against his stepdaughter while she was asleep, ABC reported.

He also abused his three-year-old daughter, committed penetrative sex acts with chickens and attempted penetrative sex acts with the family dog, the court heard.

The 27-year-old had himself been abused as a child and had sexual contact with dogs as a child.

??

A psychologist's report found he had 'distorted' attitudes' and began to feel 'aroused by the wrongfulness of his sexual behaviour'.

??

He had confessed to abusing his daughter and stepdaughter in a letter to his then-wife, who notified police.

??

The devastated mother said in her victim impact statement that her children had never done anything wrong.

??

'My beautiful, innocent children certainly never, ever deserved such terrible violations of their bodies and hearts,' she said.

The man was on Wednesday sentenced to six-years-and-seven-months in prison.

But he was given a non-parole period of three-and-a-half years, after reductions for a full confession.

??

His non-parole period is backdated to December 2015 when he was taken into custody, meaning he could be released in less than three years.

The man has consented to an intervention order that bans him from seeing or contacting his family, and is getting treatment to suppress his urges.

??

Judge Mascot said the sentence might seem moderate to some but was the result of the man's confessions, remorse and strong motivation to recover.

'Offenders should be encouraged to come clean and accept their criminal actions,' he said.
