

????????????????????????????????????????????

One of the player's fans commented on Sina Weibo, "This is a world heritage site, not your toilet."

????????????????????"????????????????????"

Another netizen posted, "If you truly love this country, you should take care of it."

?????????????"????????????????????"

Brown apologized on Sina Weibo on Tuesday, "I'm sorry for this!! I apologize I didn't mean any harm by this, I respect the Chinese culture I made an honest mistake...hope you forgive me."

????????????????????"????????????????????????????????????????????"

The two posts, however, were soon deleted.

??????????????????

An official from the Beijing Municipal Administration of Tourism told the Global Times on Wednesday that the case is currently under investigation.

????????????????????????????????????????

"Punishment, such as a fine or warning, will be given to unruly tourists according to their behavior," the official said.

????????"????????????????????????????????"

The official also pointed out that designated boards have been set up along the wall upon which tourists can leave messages.

????????????????????????????????????????

Brown and the Houston Rockets are currently visiting China to participate in the NBA's 10th edition of the China Games in Beijing and Shanghai.

????????????????????????????????NBA?10????????????