

《Boeing 727 transformed into luxury hotel suite in Costa Rica》

Good news for flight fanatics - an old jumbo jet destined for scrap has been salvaged and converted into a luxury hotel suite. The £300-a-night plane hotel suite is perched on a purpose built ledge within the Costa Rican rainforest and offers flight fans the chance to play captain for their stay.

Good news for flight fanatics - an old jumbo jet destined for scrap has been salvaged and converted into a luxury hotel suite. The £300-a-night plane hotel suite is perched on a purpose built ledge within the Costa Rican rainforest and offers flight fans the chance to play captain for their stay.