The 35-year-old even admitted he couldn't really see in the costume and joked he'd be having a 'bad day' if the predator came out of the water.

But luckily for Mr McDonald, Morris is a well-trained movie star who is used to interacting with humans.

He has appeared in many Hollywood blockbusters, including Dr. Dolittle with Eddie Murphy.

The park worker claims he was not actually teasing the alligator but, making him 'work for his food' because he had gotten 'chunky'.

Mr McDonald said: 'I know it looks like we are teasing him, but he's a chunky alligator so we make him work for his food to burn some calories.

'I was feeling nervous and it's not very easy to see in the costume because it gets foggy from breathing on it.

'I have quick reflexes but if the gator was to come all the way out of the water and chase me I'd have a bad day.'
