A number of people joked that it would be impossible to escape a class like this, as the lecturer could just shoot such a deserter down. On the other hand, some noted, such a course will inevitably attract many students.

The lecturer was later identified as Kong Lujiao, who has been teaching at the Yunnan Vocational College of Judicial Police since 2006.

“Dear students, I am very surprised to see myself become the focus of public attention ... Thank you for your attention and support of the prison police. Let’s maintain justice together,” wrote Kong on her personal Sina Weibo on Oct. 27.
