

Zhang also learned to study on smartphones by interacting with course tutors and classmates through instant messaging tools such as WeChat and QQ groups.

??????????????QQ????????????????????

Now, he enjoys logging on to the online course platform to say hi to the teachers and classmates. Besides, Zhang also reads articles and watches videos online. "I enjoy online learning, since it makes me feel I'm keeping up with the times," said Zhang.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????"????????????????????????????????????"???

Some internet users expressed their support, with one saying: "The old man is an example that it's never too old to learn."

????????????????????????"????????????????????????"

Zhang, along with 18 other senior undergraduates, received their diploma in cultural industry management at the first commencement ceremony of degree education for the elderly in Jiangsu Open University.

????18????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

