

导读:特朗普当选后，Molly在Facebook上发起一项活动，让孩子们给总统写信，呼吁更加“善良”的总统。

????????????????????????????????“????????????????????”

?????????????????????????????—?????????????????????????????

????????????????

????????????????????????????????????????????

[illegible]

Molly????????????????????????????????

????????????????——Molly????????????????——????????

---

“????????????????”?????

????????????????????????????????#?????????#??????????????????

Alison?????Tommy?????????????

“????????????????”Aliso??BBC?

"????????????????????????????????????????"

"His letter is in his own words and the drawing his own expression of what he hopes from his new president."

“????????????????????????????????????????”

Lara and her family live in Texas. Her 13-year-old daughter decided to write a letter to Mr Trump the day after his election.

Lara????????????13????????????????????????????????????

"She had a lot of questions about why someone would vote for him despite how he spoke about women, minorities and the disabled," Lara said.

“????????????????????????????????????????????”Lara??

"I didn't have a lot of answers for that question other than to say that people felt strongly that he would do a better job running the country.

“????????????????????????????????????????????????????????”

"I tried to explain to her that just because we had different opinions about how to run the country did not mean that we did not support the country and wish him success.

“????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????”

"I suggested that she write down her feelings. She chose to put them in a letter and she blew me away."

“????????????????????????????????????????????”

Campaign organiser Molly said: "I set up the page because where I live, and among many of my Facebook friends from across the country, there's a very prevalent feeling among kids that Trump is 'the mean man' and they were confused about why he won."

????Molly??“????????????????????????????????????????Facebook????????????????????????????????????????”“????”“????????????????????”

She hopes that children from all sides of the political spectrum will write positive letters to Mr Trump.

????????????????????????????????????????????

"We're also encouraging kids who are Trump supporters to submit letters if they'd like to congratulate him and give him some advice about being more kind. Nobody's perfect and I think that aside from politics and policies, we can all agree that our new President-elect needs to be a little more kind and respectful at a basic human level," she

[illegible]