

《英语试题直白问女生应如何取悦男人被指性别歧视，你怎么看？》

导读:天津一高校英语测试中出现“女人应该如何取悦男人”的文章，引起许多人不满，你怎么看？

A teacher at a university in Tianjin has been accused of sexism for including an article on how women should please men as part of an English exam.

??

Students at Tianjin Chengjian University took to social media to condemn the article, which was included in an English language test on Wednesday for sophomores at the school.

??

According to a photo of the test uploaded by a student on Sina Weibo, the article contains phrases such as "you don't want to be a waited girlfriend (sic)" and "a man needs an easy relationship."

??you don't want to be a waited girlfriend?"????????????????a man needs an easy relationship?"????

The teacher said the article was for testing purposes only and did not represent the opinions of the school, according to people.cn Monday.

????????????????????????????????

The text was apparently taken from the article "Why a man will marry you" by Nicole Gayle, a regular contributor on dating and relationships for ezinearticles.com.

?????????????·????????????????????ezinearticles????????????????

Opinions on social media were mixed, with a surprising number of comments playing down the accusations.

??

"Be clear that it is only a reading comprehension test, not an official opinion," wrote Net user "Xuyidong."

??“Xuyidong”???“????????????????????”

