

《白菜价的达芬奇油画：波兰政府低价购入大量艺术收藏品》

导读:近日，波兰政府以明显低于市场价的价格从私人收藏家购入包括达芬奇的作品在内的大量收藏品，引发了轩然大波。

The Polish government has bought a world-famous art collection, including a rare Leonardo da Vinci painting, for a fraction of its market value.

??

The Czartoryski collection was sold for 100meuro ($105m; ?85m) despite being estimated at about 2bneuro.

It includes Rembrandt and Renoir works, and Leonardo's Lady with an Ermine.

??

The head of the Czartoryski family, which owned the collection, said it was a "donation", but the board of its foundation resigned in protest.

The Czartoryski Foundation's board of management said it did not oppose selling the collection to the government, but that it was concerned that selling without due diligence - including estimating a fair price - may be against its bylaws, Reuters reported.

Chairman Marian Wolkowski-Wolski told the news agency there was a risk of the collection's eventual dispersal out of public control.
