导读:如果有一天你的领导告诉你，你的工作和升职都和献血多少有关，你会不会懵了？中国的血液市场究竟有多黑？

Employers and hospitals are coercing people into "donating" blood as the government strives to meet growing demand, workers and patients' relatives claim.

????????,????????????????????????????????

Shen Yishi (pseudonym) told that public institutions in Zhangjiagang, East China's Jiangsu Province are forcing their employees to "donate" blood by threatening that their annual work evaluation will be negatively affected if they do not comply.

??

This can affect many aspects of their career, including their chances of getting a promotion in future.

????????????????????????????????

Shen, a public employee in the city, said that every firm has a blood donation target, which affects their annual evaluation. "Blood donation is a good thing which should be encouraged. But it is weird to make it mandatory."

Often, disposable syringes are used repeatedly, which increases the risk of infection by blood-borne transmission viruses such as HIV.
