

《活到老学到老：台湾105岁老人攻读博士学位！》

导读:台湾105岁老人读博士，你还有什么理由偷懒？

Zhao Muhe is a 105-year-old man from Taiwan. Praised by many as an ideal role model, Zhao's motto is that it's never too late to learn. He is now auditing classes at National Tsing Hua University in Taiwan as he prepares to earn a PhD, China Youth online reported.

??105??

Zhao entered National Open University in Taiwan in 1999. He commuted to school by bike every day, never missing a single class. He studied late into the night, and it only took Zhao four years to finish the 128 academic credits required to graduate, which he did at the age of 91.

1999??4????????128????91????????

Several years later, Zhao decided to continue his studies. He passed the entrance examination for Nanhua University in Taiwan and got a master's degree two years later. The 98-year-old set a Guinness World Record as

??98????????????????????

[illegible][illegible]

2012??????????????