《进口空气卖出天价，专家批并没有健康作用！》

导读:近日来自加拿大、阿尔卑斯的各种空气在中国市场销售，受到了很多国人的追捧，但是专家表示称目前中国并没有针对此类产品的法律法规，而且这些产品的健康作用也没有科学根据。

More and more Chinese people are buying expensive imported canned air online, but experts have stated that there are no domestic regulations on such products, and the canned air may not have any positive impact on human health, Thepaper.cn reported on March 16.

3?16??

As China is troubled by serious air pollution, the founder of Breathe Canada discovered a business opportunity selling compressed air extracted from Canada. One can retails for 139 RMB. John Green, an Englishman in basel, Switzerland, recently started selling what is purportedly pure air from the mountains of Switzerland. A 1-liter can goes for $167. According to Swiss news site The Local, this is the highest asking price for such a product anywhere in the world. Vitality Air, a Swiss company, finds its customers mainly in China, and the company's sales volume reached 10,000 cans in less than eight months, with 100 cans sold each day of the 2016 Spring Festival.

??????????????“??????Breathe Canada?”????????????——??????????????????????139??????·?????????????
????????????????????????????????1????????167??????????????The Local?????????????????????“?????Vitality Air?”????????????????????8?????????????10000??????2016?????????????100??

However, experts have pointed out that there are no domestic regulations over the industry, and there is no scientific basis for the health benefits of the products. These products are not recommended, as they may not have undergone sterilization and disinfection, according to experts.

??

简答网 —jiandongshicai.cn—