

《神转折：22岁少年无意中破解勒索病毒！》

This is the 22-year-old computer wizard who put a stop to the ransomware virus that caused chaos around the world.

??22????????????????????

The British surfer, named as Marcus Hutchins, became an 'accidental hero' after halting the global spread of the unprecedented attack.

?????????Marcus Hutchins????????????????????

He stopped the virus in just a few hours - by which point, it had brought chaos to the NHS and thousands of other victims.

?????????????????——????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

It is thought he did this from a small bedroom at his parents' home, packed with video games and takeaway pizza boxes.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

One of Marcus's friends said that the surfer - who had been tweeting anonymously by the name MalwareTech - was just "doing his job" when he put a halt to the spread of the virus.

Marcus???MalwareTech?????????????Marcus????????????????????????????????????????"????"?

Marcus realised that by registering a website domain name the virus code could be stopped.

Marcus????????????????????????????????????????

Computer experts have warned the block on the virus may only be temporary and the hackers could easily start up a new one capable of infecting millions more computers within days.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

?????????