

导读:不论在中国还是其他国家,购房都带给人们巨大的压力,据英国《每日邮报》报道,一英国男子成功将一辆废弃的双层巴士改造成温暖舒适的家,供一家四口居住,总共只花了约17万。

??

?????????????.???3600????????????????????????????????3????????????????????????????????????
?????

?????????"?????"??2????

The family revealed on Wednesday night's episode how were previously renting a 1,400 pounds -a-month four-bedroom property near Cambridge.

????????????????????????????4????????????1400???

They came up with the plan to craft their own dream home after struggling to save a deposit for a family home in the area which would have cost them in the region of 390,000 pounds.

????????????39????????????????????????????????

But they had the added stress of making the home fully adaptable for Amanda, who struggles with severe mobility issues after a skydiving accident during her twenties when her chute didn't open.

?????????????????????????????—???20????????????????????????????????

She uses a walking frame to get around the house, meaning Rick - the sole breadwinner and Amanda's primary carer - also had to install a lift in his DIY mobile home.

?????????????????????—?????????????????—???DIY????????????

We've decided to make [our family home] much more friendly in that respect,' Rick said of his plans for the 'high-tech haven'.

?????????"?????"?????"?????????"

However they managed to keep costs down, spending just 15,000 pounds on renovations including solar panels, bottled gas for heating and a retractable ramp and 'monorail' track for Amanda's wheelchair.

????????????????1.5????????????????????????????????

Discussing the 'genius' creation, a visibly impressed Sarah told the couple: 'The plans for the bus sound genius. This is extremely ambitious given the budget, but if anyone will do it, I think it will be you.'

?????"?"?????????????????"??