

《国防部：不再从高中毕业生中招收国防生》

导读:本周五国防部发表声明称，从今年开始将不再从高中毕业生和高校学生中定向招收国防生，转而从高校毕业生中选拔。

The Chinese People's Liberation Army (PLA) will no longer recruit senior high school graduates and college students for reserve officers, the Ministry of National Defence (MOD) said Friday.

??

Instead, the PLA will select and recruit college graduates, with new policies to be put in place to support the change, according to the MOD.

??

The changes are scheduled to take effect this year, as most college students graduate in June and July.

????????????6????????????????????????

The new policy aims to better utilize China's educational resources, while providing a platform for more high-quality graduates from colleges across the country to serve in the army, said an official at the MOD.

??

High school graduates or college students previously accounted for a large proportion of PLA recruits. They receive education in colleges and universities, undergo military-style management and become reserve officers after graduation.

??

