

《报告称，中国经济将在2030年超越美国》

根据一份新报告，亚洲的经济增长将会持续增长，中国很可能在十几年后，超越美国。成为美元计价的第一经济体。

Asia's economic growth will continue to surge and China will likely overtake the United States' spot as the world's largest dollar economy in just over a decade, according to a new report.

The newest World Economic League Table (WELT) report released by the Centre for Economics and Business Research (CEBR) also concludes India will "leapfrog" Britain and France next year to become the world's fifth largest economy. By 2027, India will move ahead of Germany to third place, the report projects.

"The interesting trend emerging is that by 2032 five of the 10 largest economies will be in Asia while European economies are falling down the ranking and the USA loses its top spot," said Oliver Kolodseike, the center's senior economist and report co-author. "Technology and urbanization will be important factors transforming the world economy over the next 15 years."

The report suggests energy will be less expensive for consumers and, because of a weak oil price, Russia will drop from its current position of 11th to 17th in 2032.
