《老爹逮“狼”记：父亲假扮女儿教训色狼》

近日阿根廷一位父亲在社交应用上假扮自己11岁的女儿捉到了在该应用上骚扰女儿的色狼，狠狠教训了他，获众人点赞。

A father in Argentina took actions into his own hands after he pretended to be his 11-year-old daughter in order to locate and pummel the man who harassed the girl via a messaging app.

In one of the texts to Acosta, the pre-teen said she was a virgin, to which Acosta replied: “That’s great.”

Rodriguez took control of the text conversations and posed as his daughter to arrange a meeting with Acosta.

“First he wanted to have the date at his house and I told him yes, of course, because I was going to kill him,” Rodriguez told TV channel TB. “He would open the door and I would kill him.”

The father and the suspect are both facing charges but were not detained. Rodriguez faces a battery charge while Acosta was accused of “online harassment and grooming – the crime of befriending a child to lure them to perform sexual acts.”

Rodriguez told local media he was upset Acosta was not detained for his crimes despite him showing proof of the messages.

“I made my statement before a judge. I told them everything, how it happened, I showed them the screenshots, what he had been sending to my little girl,” Rodríguez said. “I don’t understand why they let him go. A person like this doesn’t deserve to be free.”

Hernan Navarro, with a non-profit group Grooming Argentina that protects youth from online predators, warned Acosta could be “a potential risk to society.”

“By letting him free there is the potential risk to society because he could continue harassing these children,” Navarro said.
