Forensics examination results showed that Fanfan was suffering from secondary serious injuries to her head, secondary minor injuries to her nose and minor injuries to her skin, soft tissue and teeth, all caused by external forces.

"The doctor told me that the beating caused my daughter to have an intracranial hemorrhage, and she received a craniotomy operation on Monday," Fanfan's mother Zhang Lingye told the Beijing News.

??

"Although the operation was successful, her recovery is still uncertain due to her malnutrition, anemia and other complications, as well as her young age."
