

《全球首个！苏格兰将免费供应卫生巾》

你可能想象不到，在英国这样的发达国家，还有人买不起卫生巾。但事实上，“月经贫困”在世界范围内普遍存在。日前苏格兰通过了一项史无前例的法案，免费向所有人供应月经用品，让女性从此告别“月经贫困”。

Scotland has become the first country to allow free and universal access to menstrual products, including tampons and pads, in public facilities, a landmark victory for the global movement against period poverty.

??

The Scottish Parliament voted unanimously in favor of the Period Products bill on Tuesday, months after lawmakers had initially signaled their support.

In 2018, the government announced that students in schools, colleges and universities across the countries would be able to access sanitary products for free, through a £5.2 million investment. In 2019, it allocated another £4 million to make period products available for free in libraries and recreational centers.

England last year also launched an initiative to provide free sanitary products in schools, and New Zealand did the same earlier this year.
