范文一：

Dear classmates,

As the Student Union President, I write to emphasize the significance of small actions in our fight against the coronavirus. Each individual effort, whether it's washing hands regularly, wearing masks, or maintaining social distance, contributes to our collective safety.

These actions may seem minor, but they are powerful tools in our arsenal. By taking these simple steps, we not only protect ourselves but also safeguard our loved ones and the wider community.

Let's unite in this battle and take these small but crucial actions. Together, we can overcome this challenge and emerge stronger and more resilient.

Sincerely,

Li Hua

Let's unite in this fight and take these small but meaningful steps. Together, we can overcome this challenge and create a safer, healthier environment for all.

Best regards,
