利比亚：尼日尔引渡卡扎菲之子萨阿迪至黎波里

The Libyan government says Niger has extradited Muammar Gaddafi's son Saadi, who has just arrived in Tripoli.

Libya had been seeking the extradition of Saadi since he fled to the neighboring country after the toppling of his father in a NATO-backed uprising in 2011. Saadi is one of Gaddafi's seven sons.

The Libyan government says Saadi is being held by judiciary police forces, and will be treated according to international justice standards for prisoners.
