《奥巴马获邀客串美剧《纸牌屋》走后门求看第二季》

PAINED by political gridlock, US President Barack Obama let slip that he wished Washington was as "ruthlessly efficient" as the Machiavellian world portrayed in Kevin Spacey's Netflix hit House of Cards.

??????????????????????????????·??????????????????????????“?????”?

Mr Obama, who has spent a gruelling three years battling a Republican House of Representatives, ruefully wished life imitated art during a photo op with bosses of top internet firms, including a top Netflix executive on Tuesday.

????????????????????????????????——???????????——????????????????????????????

As Deadline reports, a Netflix CEO Reed Hastings made a cheeky attempt to persuade Obama to star in the series after he was invited to discuss the government's policies on healthcare and surveillance with the US President.

??Deadline??????????CEO??·???????????????????????????? ????????????????????????

"I'm just wondering if you brought advance copies of House of Cards?" Mr Obama quipped.

“????????????????????????”???????

After Obama made a quip to Hastings asking whether he had brought an advanced copy of the second season of the show on DVD with him, the CEO fired back: "Are you willing to do a little cameo?"

??????????????????DVD????????????????????????“????????????”

"I wish things were that ruthlessly efficient," Obama responded by joking, of the Washington ruled by the fearsome character, House majority whip Frank Underwood.

“????????????????????” ????????????????????????????·????? ??????????????

"This guy's getting a lot of stuff done," Mr Obama joked.

“????????????”????????

A second series of multiple Emmy nominated House of Cards, loosely based on a British miniseries of the 1990s, debuts in February on Netflix, in the US.

????????????1990????????????????????????2?????????????