六级作文真题及范文(第一套)

题目：

Part I

Writing

(30 minutes)

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write an essay that begins with the sentence "As is known to all, gaining a sound knowledge of the basics is of vital importance for students to master an academic subject." You can make comments, cite examples or use your personal experiences to develop your essay. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words (not including the sentence given).

范文：

As is known to all, gaining a sound knowledge of the basics is of vital importance for students to master an academic subject. This principle is not only applicable to academic pursuits but also to life in general.

The foundation of any subject is its bedrock, and without a firm grasp of the fundamentals, it becomes difficult to progress further. For instance, in mathematics, a student who lacks a solid understanding of algebra will struggle with calculus. Similarly, in language learning, mastery of vocabulary and grammar lays the groundwork for reading comprehension and writing skills.

I personally experienced the importance of a solid foundation when I first started learning a foreign language. Initially, I neglected the basics and jumped into reading advanced texts, resulting in frustration and poor retention. However, when I devoted more time to building a solid foundation by memorizing vocabulary and grammar rules, my language proficiency improved significantly.

In conclusion, a sound knowledge of the basics is crucial for success in any field. It provides the foundation upon which we can build our knowledge and skills, ultimately leading to mastery of our chosen subject.

六级作文真题及范文(第二套)

题目：

Part IWriting*(30 minutes)

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write an essay that begins with the sentence "Nowadays parents are increasingly aware that allowing kids more freedom to explore and learn on their own helps foster their independence and boost their confidence." You can make comments, cite examples or use your personal experiences to develop your essay. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words (not including the sentence given).

范文：

Title: The Value of Freedom in Children's Learning

Nowadays, parents are increasingly aware that allowing kids more freedom to explore and learn on their own helps foster their independence and boost their confidence. This shift in parenting philosophy is not without merit, as it recognizes the importance of self-discovery and autonomy in a child's growth.

Personal experience has taught me the value of this approach. As a child, I was given the freedom to choose my extracurricular activities and hobbies. This allowed me to explore various interests, from music to science, and ultimately develop a passion for writing. The sense of ownership and responsibility that came with making my own choices not only strengthened my self-esteem but also fostered a deeper understanding of the subjects I pursued.

By granting children freedom within reasonable limits, parents can empower them to take risks, make mistakes, and learn from them. This process is crucial in building resilience and critical thinking skills, which are essential for success in life. Moreover, allowing children to chart their own learning paths fosters a love of learning that lasts a lifetime.

In conclusion, parents should embrace the concept of giving their children more freedom to explore and learn. This approach not only fosters independence and confidence but also lays the foundation for a lifetime of self-directed learning and growth.

六级作文真题及范文(第3套)

题目：

Part IWriting*(30 minutes)

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write an essay that begins with the sentence "With their valuable skills and experience, elderly people can continue to make significant contributions to society." You can make comments, cite examples or use your personal observations to develop your essay. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words (not including the sentence given).

范文：

With their valuable skills and experience, elderly people can continue to make significant contributions to society. Their wisdom and perspective, honed over decades, are invaluable resources that should be harnessed to benefit the younger generation.

I have observed many elderly individuals in my community actively participating in volunteer work, sharing their knowledge and expertise with those who are eager to learn. For instance, an elderly neighbor, Mr. Smith, volunteers at the local library, assisting children with their homework and reading. His patience and enthusiasm have inspired many young readers to develop a lifelong love of learning.

Furthermore, elderly people's experiences can provide valuable insights into historical events and societal changes. Their first-hand accounts are invaluable in educating the younger generation about the past and preparing them for the future. By listening to and learning from the elderly, we can gain a deeper understanding of our society and culture.

In conclusion, elderly people play a crucial role in our society. Their contributions, both tangible and intangible, are essential in shaping a more informed, compassionate, and resilient society. We should embrace their knowledge and experiences and use them to enrich our own lives and the lives of those around us.
