

After calling 911, four police officers came with a trap lined with marshmallows and a tranquilizer gun.

??911????????????????????????????

One officer tried to strike the raccoon with the medicated dart gun and even though he successfully hit him in the back, the gun didn't release any tranquilizer fluid.

????????????????????????????????

Another officer who tried to nab the furry bandit slipped and fell onto another officer.

????????????????????????????????

After a long battle with the furry bandit the cops nicknamed 'Rocky,' police were able to wrestle the raccoon into a cage although it had a faulty door.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

The door flew open and the raccoon ran down to the front of the beauty store near the window where passers-by gathered to watch the battle of police versus animal.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

Finally, a cop used a catch pole to push Rocky back into the cage which they then locked with zip ties.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

The Post reports that Rocky's future is unclear as raccoon are usually euthanized so that they can be tested for rabies.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

