

《农村孩子幸福的定义》

Happiness knows no luxury, and having fun is more than children's prerogative, it's their field of expertise.

Leave it to kids to kill time by creating the most enjoyable of games from scratch, just by making do with what is available.

The following series, which chronicles children across rural China throughout the years, proves that a little bit of imagination goes a long way. On Children's Day, we wish all kids and kidults infinite laughter and fun today and every day.
