

《英教育部发布指南，帮家长参透熊孩子网络暗语》

????????????????

British government is launching a social media dictionary to help parents understand their children's online code

The British government is to launch a social media dictionary so parents can translate popular acronyms used by teenagers online.

????????????????

The language guide decodes terms such as GNOC (get naked on camera) and ASL (age, sex, location) which are often used by youngsters using anonymous chat rooms.

????????????GNOC????????ASL????????????????????????????

The tool will help eagle-eyed parents spot when their child issues a P999, also known as a parent alert, to make their online friends aware their parents are around.

????????P999????????????????????????????

Other definitions include zerg (to gang up on someone), POS (parents over shoulder), PAL (parents are listening and 420 (marijuana).

??????? zerg????????POS????????PAL???????420?????

The guide is part of Parent Info, an online service announced on September 7 by the Department for Education. It aims to provide tips on navigating teenage life and give adults the confidence to talk about sensitive topics with their children.

9????????????????“????”??

Secretary of State for Education and Minister for Women and Equalities Nicky Morgan said it was crucial that parents were educated on how to keep their children safe online.

????????????????????·???Nicky Morgan????????????????????

She said: 'The internet is an incredibly powerful tool, which is changing the way our children learn and stay in touch. But we must also make sure we do everything we can to help them stay safe online. As a parent myself, I understand how important it is to know your child is safe and that's why this new online service is so important.

????“??
??

'I hope all schools take advantage of this new resource, which addresses fundamental issues like cyber bullying and body confidence - so that they can help protect their children in this digital age.'

“??”

The website has been developed by the National Crime Agency's Child Exploitation and online Protection Centre (CEOP) and The Parent Zone, founded in 2005 to provide support to parents.

??2005????????????

Its newsfeed, including regular articles, will be integrated into school websites, and can also be accessed at www.parentinfo.org.

????????????????????????????????????www.parentinfo.org????

Acronyms used by teenagers online

????????

GNOC: Get naked on camera

GNOC???????

ASL: Age, sex, location

ASL?????????

IWSN: I want sex now

IWSN?????????

LMIRL: Let's meet in real life

LMIRL??????

IRL: In real life

IRL????

RU/18: Are you over 18?

RU/18???18???

WYRN: What's your real name?

WYRN?????????

Zerg: To gang up on somebody

Zerg????????

POS: Parents over shoulder

POS??????

PAL: Parents are listening

PAL?????

KPC: Keep parents clueless

KPC????????

P999: Parent alert

P999?????

MOOS: Member of the opposite sex

MOOS?????

420: Marijuana

420???

143: I love you

143????

183: I hate you

183????

CYT: See you tomorrow

CYT????

?????????

???Garfield?

