

《iPhone 6还没买 iPhone 6S就要来了！》

It ' s been less than three months since Apple unveiled its iPhone 6 and 6 Plus, but rumours suggest the firm is gearing up for its next release already.

????????????????????iPhone 6 and 6 Plus????????????????????iPhone??????????

Reports say Apple may hold two iPhone launch events next year, to release its iPhone 6S in spring, and its iPhone 7 in September.

????????????????????iPhone 6S????????iPhone 7?

The iPhone 6S may even go on sale at the same time as Apple's upcoming Watch.

??iPhone 6S????????????????????Watch?

Until 2013, Apple released one handset each year around September time.

2013??

Last year, however, it used its September launch event to announce two new devices-its flagship iPhone 5S and the 'cheaper' iPhone 5C.

??iPhone 5S????????????iPhone 5C?

This was followed by the launch of its iPhone 6 and larger iPhone 6 Plus this year.

????????????????iPhone 6????????iPhone 6 Plus?

The new schedule is expected to stagger the releases of two devices in 2015 to capitalise on sales.

??2015????????????????????????????????????

Apple could release the iPhone 6S to people who want to upgrade to a slightly cheaper model, before announcing its flagship iPhone 7 in the autumn.

????????????6S????????????????????????????iPhone???

'Our source says that Apple is hesitant about launching the iWatch in the spring of 2015 without a new iPhone to go along with it,' explained Mr Miller.

????“??iWatch????????????iPhone?”

The news comes as manufacturers revealed Apple has plans to kill off its iPhone 5C as early as next summer.

??iPhone 5C?

The report, by Taiwan's Industrial and Commercial times, did not reveal the reasons behind the plans, but Apple has previously been known to discontinue models as they are replaced by newer versions.

??iPhone 5C??

Sales of the 5C were also poor, compared to the company's expectations, and in January, research firm CIRP reports the model accounted for just 27 per cent of iPhone sales at the end of 2013.

??5C??CIRP????????????????2013??5C??iPhone????????27%?

Manufacturers will begin winding down production of the handset from January, and are expected to pull the plug completely by the 'middle of 2015.'

????????????????????????????5C????????????????????????????

Apple also recently killed off its iPod Classic.

????????????????????iPod Classic????????

When Apple's online store came back online following its iPhone 6 event in September, this later model was missing from the iPod lineup.

????9????iPhone 6????ipod classic????????????????

Apple did not make any formal announcement about ceasing the line at the time.

????????????????????????

'We couldn't get the parts anymore, not anywhere on Earth,' explained Mr Cook.

?????CEO??-????????????????“?????????iPod classic????????????????????”

