

《Everyday English每日会话：Funkytown - Li Inc》

Bobby: Kelly, do you have any spare batteries that I can borrow?

Kelly: More? You borrowed fifteen batteries from me last week.

Bobby: I know but they have run flat already.

Kelly: What are you doing with all of these batteries?

Bobby: They are for my new boom-box!

Kelly: Your boom-box! You must have the volume turned all the way to ten.

Bobby: Actually my boom-box volume goes to eleven!

Kelly: You'll go deaf if you're not careful.

Bobby: Maybe, but I'll have a great time doing it.

NEW WORDS????

1) Boom-box: a CD, radio and cassette player with speakers that you can take wherever you go
????????????????CD????????????????
My school had a 'no boom-box' policy and teachers would take them off you if you did bring one.
????????“????????????”????????????????

2) Deaf: not able to hear

??????

The concert that I went to last night was so loud that I had to wear earplugs so I would not become deaf.

????????????????????????????????????

3) Punks: people who listen to punk music, wear leather clothes and believe in anarchy

????????????????????????????????????

The punk club that I went to was so tough that you had to cut yourself with a razor just to get in the door.

????????????????????????????????????

4) Sucks: a slang way for saying that something is not good (be careful how you use this one when you speak or write English)

????????????????????????????????????

I wanted to see a movie last night with my girlfriend but she had already seen it and said that it really sucks!

Dialogue????

Jessie: I really feel like dancing, Tina.

Tina: I love to dance. What type of music is your favorite for dancing to?

Jessie: Disco! Anything from the 1970s is just fine by me.

Tina: Oh. I hate disco music. Punks say that disco sucks.

Jessie: But the music that punks listen to is the worst type of music!

Tina: I think I have an old cassette with some disco music on it.

Jessie: See if you can find it and we can dance together in your room.

Tina: Here it is. I bet you don't know this song!
