Dialog 1

W: Would you like me to type it for you?

M: Yes, please. That would be a great help. Are you sure you don't mind?

W: Not at all. I'll be glad to do it.

M: Thank you very much.

W: Shall I right out again first?

M: No, there's no need.

W: Can I print it?

M: No, don't bother. It's all right as it is.

Dialog 2

M: Shall I get you another cup of coffee?

W: Yes, please. That is very kind of you.

M: Shall I make more sandwiches?

W: No, thanks. I've had plenty.

Dialog 3

W: I am so busy today.

M: Can I help you?

W: I'm not sure. Perhaps you could do the shopping.

M: I'll be glad to help.

W: Or maybe make the beds.

M: All you have to do is ask for help.

W: Thanks. That's terrific!

M: I'm ready and willing to help.

Dialog 4

M: Would you like something to eat?

W: Thank you. No. I'm late for dinner at my house. I really have to go.

M: Would you like to call home?

W: I'd appreciate that.

M: Please use the phone.

W: Thanks.

Dialog 5

M: Can I give you a lift home, Mrs Word?

W: That is very kind of you, Mr Lee. Thank you.

M: Could you hold my umbrella when I get my keys out, please?

W: Of course. It's a terrible night, isn't it?

M: Dreadful. There, the door is open now.

W: Thank you.

Dialog 6

M: Cigarette?

W: Oh, uh... Thanks. Henry, do you have a light?

M: Sorry, here.

W: Thanks. Lovely day. Pity I'm on duty.

M: I'll stand in with you if you like. I've got nothing else to do.

W: Oh, no. I couldn't possibly.

I'm so hungry that I could eat a horse now. My girlfriend offers me to go the cafeteria. But I don't like stand in a line. Then she suggests the we can sit the hamburger stand around the corner. I do think that's a good idea. And we can get some drink there. Such as cocacola or something. However I like something hot. Besides suppose we go and get some hamburgers first, and then make some coffee at the office.
