Dialogue One

A:Waiter,bring me the menu,will you?

B:Just a moment,I'm coming.(ten minutes later).Now,what would you like?

A:I'd like to see the menu.Would you get me one,please?

B:Yes,certainly.Here you are.

A: Thank you. Ah! But this is in French. Would you mind giving me the English menu?

B: It's written in English too, in smaller print. There.

A: Thanks. I'll need a while to choose. Could you come back in a minute?

B: Right. (five minutes later) Now, what are you having?

A: I'm sorry, I haven't decided yet. Do you mind giving me a couple of minutes?

B: All right, but would you be so kind as to make up your mind soon? We're very busy just now as you can see, sir.

Dialogue Two

A: Thomas, would you be so kind as to lay the table for me? I'm busy in the kitchen.

B: Of course! Where are the things?

A: They're all here.

B: Right! I'll do it straight away.

A: Thanks a lot. I'm most grateful.

Dialogue Three

A: Sorry. What was that you said?

B: I'll meet you at the Gate round about seven.

A: Where?

B: At the Gate.

A: When, did you say?

B: Round about seven.

A:Who's coming?

B:Peter.Peter Brown,you know.Don't forget to bring the letter.

A:Sorry.I didn't quite catch what you said.There's a lot of noise outside.

B:I told you not to forget to bring the letter.

A:Loretta?No,she can't come,she's busy.

Dialogue Four

A:Could you just hold this for me?

B:What are you doing?Is anything wrong?

A:Yes,but I've nearly fixed it .Just take it ,will you?

B:Oh,yes,of course.I'm sorry-I wasn't thinking.....

Dialogue Five

A:This is the Pan-American Club.May I help you?

B:Yes.I believe you have a luncheon meeting this coming Wednesday.Could you give me some more information about that?

A:Yes,of course.The guest speaker is Professor David of a University,and he'll be lecturing about"The impact of the Oil Crisis on Latin America."

B;Mmm,that sounds very interesting.

Dialogue Six

A:It's very dark in here.Will you turn on the light?

B:Okay.But our baby has fallen sleep.

A:Then,turn on the lamp,please.

B:But where's the switch?

A:It's there by the window.
