Donald Trump faces rape allegations again. An unidentified California woman filed a lawsuit in a Manhattan Federal Court on Monday, which was first reported by the Real Deal.

The lawsuit claims that Trump and billionaire Jeffrey Epstein raped her when she was 13 years old at a sex party hosted by Epstein in 1994. Trump has previously denied the allegations, calling them “categorically false” and “disgusting.”

Epstein has also been previously accused of sexual deviancy and pedophile activities, but has denied claims as well. He did, however, plead guilty to soliciting a minor in one case filed against him in 2008.

A Los Angeles Federal Court judge dismissed the lawsuit last month.

The New York Daily News points out there are many vulgar charges missing from the new case, like an allegation that Trump threw money at the defendant after she expressed fear of pregnancy after the rape. Also missing is the claim that Trump called Epstein a “Jew bastard,” and her original request for $100 million in damages.

She cites in an affidavit: “Immediately following this rape, Defendant Trump threatened me that, were I ever to reveal any of the details of Defendant Trump’s sexual and physical abuse of me, my family and I would be physically harmed if not killed.”
